

ALABAMA

BATTLE FLAG
SEPT. 1861 - APRIL 1865

GADSDEN MINUTEMEN NEWSLETTER

July 96

G.M.M.
53901 STATE HWY 79
BLOUNTSVILLE, AL 35031
(205) 466-7689

Another ATF screw up

The following are excerpts from a transcript I have in hand of a BATF "Roll Call Training" meeting. These documents were obtained from a FOIA request. This meeting was held in October of 1995. The following quotes are by Mr. Tom Busey (Chief of the NFA branch (National Firearms Act)). There are 22 pages in the complete transcript. I am transcribing the most interesting parts.

(Page 9, lines 3 - 12) (Mr. Busey speaking about the firearms database)

"Let me say that when we testify in court, we testify that the data base is 100 percent accurate. That's what we testify to, and will always testify to that. As you probably well know, that may not be 100 percent true. If our data base was absolutely error free, we could simply run the name of the individual and his first name, and if it didn't come up, we could guarantee everyone that the individual doesn't have a Title 2 weapon registered to him."

(Page 16, lines 5 - 12) (Busey continuing to speak on their data base for Title 2 weapons)

"So we're hoping that eliminates the possibility that anything goes out erroneous because we know you're basing your warrants on it, you're basing your entries on it, and you certainly don't want a Form 4 waved in your face when you go in there to show that the guy does have a legally registered Title 2 weapon. I've heard that's happened. I'm not sure."

(Page 17, lines 18 - 20)

"If the information that's in the data base is not accurate, it doesn't make any difference how good of a search we do, it'll come out wrong."

(Page 18, lines 1 - 9)

"Like I told you before, we testify in court and, of course, our certifications testify to that, too, when we're not physically there to testify, that we are 100 percent accurate. But we have found instances in our records where names have been misspelled, they've been inverted, vowels i - e have been changed; and, of course, computer programs only pull up what you put in."

(Page 19 lines 4 - 15) (Busey talking about a quality review team that checked on the ATF's record keeping)

"This quality review team, when I first came in a year ago, our error rate was between 49 and 50 percent, so you can imagine what the accuracy of the NFRTR (National Firearms Registration and Transfer Record) could be, if your error rate's 49 to 50 percent. The error rate now is down below 8 percent, and that's total. That's common errors and critical errors. We do a little finagling upstairs on what — you know, we consider a common error is an error in the data base entry, but it doesn't affect a look up. It wouldn't hurt an agent who doesn't really have any damage."

<end of transcription>

The head of NFA is admitting to lying in court. Shortly after this FOIA request, BATF attempted to cover their ass by having Gary W. Schaible, a specialist in the NFA branch, sign an affidavit saying basically that Mr. Busey (the chief of NFA) didn't know what he was talking about. I also have a copy of this affidavit.

Jeff Randall
CopWatch

12
To all:

How about it, folks? Don't tell me about the dates.
It's fiction, OK?

In liberty,
Mike Kemp

Dateline: Washington, D.C., Friday, September 28

The public outcry over the growing scandal of irregularities discovered with growing numbers of Federal Firearms Licensees has today prompted the BATF to issue a directive that firearms sales shall cease until individual licensees' records are examined and cleared, with a view toward uncovering more evidence of the heretofore unknown and recently discovered methods of shadow buying of firearms with transfer to unknown third parties. This notice is effective Monday, September 31.

Dateline: Washington, D.C. Sunday, September 30

A smug Janet Reno held a news conference this morning to give the details of the ongoing operation which has, at the present time, resulted in thousands of arrests across the nation.

An immense internal arms smuggling conspiracy was at work, Ms. Reno stated. The arrests, categorized by Ms. Reno as being of freemen, militiamen, and other hate group members, resulted in the seizure of thousands of firearms, many of them handguns and assault weapons. Millions of rounds of ammunition, thousands of pounds of gunpowder, and equipment to manufacture homemade ammunition were also taken into custody, along with gas masks, night vision equipment, and body armor. Other fugitives are being sought in the ongoing investigation.

When questioned about any connection to the ATF's order to cease firearms sales, Ms. Reno stated that Treasury handles that.

When questioned about numerous local reports that some individuals had offered resistance, with hundreds killed rather than arrested, and with dozens of law enforcement casualties, Ms. Reno described both casualties and resistance as light.

Dateline: Washington D.C., Monday, September 31

A harried U.S. Attorney today denied reports pouring in from around the nation that many ATF field agents were dead and hundreds missing in the wake of seemingly spontaneous action by citizens as gun stores were visited by the ATF for the inspections which had been announced as beginning today.

A spokesperson for the Treasury Department said that the reports were grossly overblown, and that local law enforcement could handle any hoodlums and gangbangers causing trouble.*

However, there are persistent reports that many local law enforcement officials are dead, and many more barricaded into their headquarters. It is also reported, without substantiation, that a significant number of uniformed officers participated in lynchings of judges, attorneys, and politicians.

Dateline: Washington, D.C. January 3

Offices of the members of Congress were notified today to be prepared for the arrival of their new principals, hastily elected by jubilant Americans picking up the pieces of a shattered government. All across the nation is a sense of general relief that the dragon of corrupt government was buried. Opinions indicate that the relatively peaceful collapse and quick recovery is due to the fact that the dragon had not been slain, so much as expired from an incurable internal disease.

As recent martyrs were mourned, warrants have been issued for the arrest of a host of former political officials.

* * * * *

Thanks to Jay Marvin and Don Wade, talk show hosts on WLS/am Radio - Chicago, Illinois 7/4/96. WLS is the ONLY outlet in Chicago reporting on this:

Patricia and Glenn Mendoza were visiting "A Taste of Chicago" with around 15 other members of the Company they owned on Tuesday, July 2. As they stood behind the fence separating them from the crowd, along came President Clinton, shaking hands with some of the people behind the fence. As he passed on the other side of the fence, Patricia Mendoza refused to shake his hand and because she was upset about what happened in Saudi Arabia, yelled "You suck, those boys died!" (Heckling, like Chicken George?)

Well...10 minutes later, after the President left the area, a team of Secret Service agents returned to where the Mendoza's were and forcibly grabbed 32 year old Patricia Mendoza and placed her under arrest. No rights read, nothing. Her husband, Glenn then made the comment that he would get a lawyer. A Secret Service agent then promptly arrested Glenn Mendoza.

The SS then had the Chicago Police Department transport the Mendoza's to Central lock-up where they were charged with "disorderly conduct" and held in lock up until the next morning at 4:00 a.m.

While in the roach infested lock-up, Ms. Mendoza stated that a Secret Service agent approached her implying she had threatened the President. (NOTE: She was charged with Disorderly Conduct, not threatening the President). He said he wanted to talk with her and she stated that since he felt that saying "You suck" was considered a threat, and in view of the serious nature of the charges he was leveling at that moment, she would be happy to talk to the agent, but she wanted to have a lawyer present. Ms. Mendoza then stated the agent said "Oh, you want to play hard ball" and began shoving her around. He then left and the Mendoza's sat in lock-up until released the next a.m.

A positive note however, is that the Mendoza's observed that the Chicago Police were very kind and several of them told the Mendoza's they totally disagreed with what the SS was doing. Mr. Mendoza said one of the officers claimed: "What the hell, the President does suck." I sure hope they don't try to search out that dangerous cop.

Well folks, Happy 4th of July (and fasten your seat belts)

KEP'S FREEHOLD:

ANSWER: ABSOLUTELY NOTHING

So: what is the question? I'll beat around the bush some, and give clues, and you-all can play JEOPARDY.

We complain about the many things that are wrong with our country. Everywhere a Constitutionalist turns, (s)he finds an abomination.

Our legislature, being given the power to pass laws, will pass laws. After being in existence for a couple hundred years, the production of legislation has outstripped demand. Having exhausted the Constitutional limits of legislation, our legislative bodies from the Congress to the municipality are breaking Constitutional limits.

Since the legislature only knows to pass laws, every time a fresh scheme to involve government dawns on a politico, bang! We have some more laws, a new bureaucracy, some more tax and regulation. Since all government is force, there is soon an effort to bully or deceive someone into doing (or not doing) what government says, because government says so (or not)-at the point of a gun.

Soon, some poor fool with more courage than sense finds himself before a judge.

Our executive officers have convinced the public that the public should want government to do something, and have then set forth to do it. Since all government is force, there is soon an effort to bully or deceive someone into doing (or not doing) what government says, because government says so (or not)-at the point of a gun.

Soon, some poor fool with more courage than sense finds himself before a judge.

Our peace officers have graduated. No longer content to keep the peace, they are now engaged in the proactive enforcement of the law. Once upon a time, that would still have not been a problem, for the laws were simple. Common sense simple. Common law simple. Damage or intrude upon your fellow man, and find yourself in court. If there wasn't a dead body or a complaining witness, there wasn't a case. But, now, there are LAWS to enforce.

What have I left out? The judges. You don't like greedy politicians, empire builders, picking the lock on the Constitutional cage of government? Well, get dragged into court by the armed agents of the politicians. What have we been conditioned to do? Why, to defend ourselves, like any common criminal.

How should we react? Start screaming for justice, that minding one's own business is no business of the state; we should demand that the court recognize its oath to the Constitutional protection of our rights, and throw the case so far it bounces into the sea.

Then, not content that the politician should escape the ramifications of violating his sworn oath, we should demand the court punish the politician appropriately, gain reimbursement for our costs to quash the aggression by government, and enjoin him from repeating his violation under threat of extreme sanction.

A law enforcement officer drags you into court for crimes which have no victim, on evidence partially manufactured and partially obtained by a fraudulent warrant, if there is a warrant. We should immediately invoke the court's oath to uphold our rights under the common law, as protected by the Constitution, and otherwise repeat the performance described above.

However, there is a weakness to this approach. The system is locked away from us. The bar associations got hold of the courts, and are in firm control. Rather than an attorney who guides the defendant through a legal maze, insuring that his clients rights are protected, we have attorneys whose oath is to the court. If the judge says so, well, then it is fact.

When an lawyer can find a political friend, he becomes a judge. He is trained that the court is the highest creation on this earth, answerable to no one - certainly not the Constitution, nor the people. His word becomes law. His word is law. This power has been used to feather the nests of all those who violate our Constitution and our rights.

I only marvel at how gullible we are, that we have and do allow it to happen. Our problem stems from the corruption of the judiciary. Without a corrupt judge on the bench, a greedy politician doesn't stand a chance. Without a corrupt judge on the bench, an unlawful law is immediately doomed at the first challenge. Without a corrupt judge on the bench, the lying policeman without a victim finds himself fined and fired, if not locked up.

But government set out on the path of incrementalism, and suborned the judiciary to make it all possible, one little nibble of our Liberty at a time. Do we have the question yet?

What are our judges good for? Be thankful. I might have entitled the piece WIND CHIMES.

G.M.M.

53901 STATE HWY 79
BLOUNTSVILLE, AL 35031
(205) 466-7689

"If we run into such (government) debts, as that we must be taxed in our meat and in our drink, in our necessities and our comforts, in our labors and our amusements, for our callings and our creeds, as the people of England are, our people, like them, must come to labor sixteen hours in twenty-four, give the earnings of fifteen of these to the government for their debts and daily expenses, and the sixteenth being insufficient to afford us bread, we must live, as they now do, on oatmeal and potatoes, have no time to think, no means of calling the mismanagers to account; but be glad to obtain subsistence by hiring ourselves to rivet their chains on the necks of our fellow-sufferers."

—Thomas Jefferson

4
Dear All:

Tonight on CNN was: the story that the army's admitting that there was a bunker destroyed after the end of the Gulf War which they now admit contained mustard and sarin, though they looked assiduously for the presence of nerve agent before they blew up the bunker. A few hundred troops were within a few miles of the site.

Another story concerned an agreement between Britain and the European Union. The ban on the importation of British beef products would be lifted incrementally over the next few years while Britain would incrementally become involved in EU business.

The US government has maintained that there is no such thing as Gulf War Syndrome, but is only an excuse for any vet who gets sick afterward to claim government is responsible and therefore financially liable. Besides, there was no chemical exposure, and therefore no reason for any connection.

This of course diverts the argument. Instead of examining the facts and the cases, people argue about chemicals. Was there or wasn't there chemical exposure. Yammer, yammer, yammer. It is, as they say, a red herring. A false lead. A DIVERSION.

Reports that I see indicate an agent of contagion. Chemical weapons do not cause contagion. Biological agents do, whether they be placed in contact with the soldiers by the vagaries of Creation, or whether they be placed there by human agencies. For instance, I see a lot of reports of successful therapy with a systemic antibiotic, doxycycline I think. Medical professionals please forgive me, but isn't it a bit strange to have nerve gas damage respond to an antibiotic?

Why would the army now admit to the potential exposure of a certain number of soldiers, and perhaps residual nerve gas contamination left on equipment? They are cutting their losses. Too much attention has been and is being paid to the growing body of evidence that there IS a condition called Gulf War Syndrome.

If, by negligence or by design, the US government has let loose an infectious agent among American troops, let alone the American people, there will not be a bankrupting blow to the government. That government would be destroyed. A final trigger would be tripped.

Remember 'Nam, and Agent Orange; remember a war with no front line and no support and no martial thought in control of the battlefield? Remember the physical and mental damage done to our soldiers resulting from the lack of governmental will? Remember McNamara's book, I'm sorry. I knew it was a mistake at the time, but I couldn't stop. Please forgive me. Could our government survive a massive political awakening and the ensuing political firestorm? Can the truth be told? Will it? I think not.

Bovine spongiform encephalitis, Mad Cow Disease, BSE, arrived on the world full blown and without warning. They seem to have traced the infection to feed, made from sheep killed by disease. A stupid mistake, but awfully hard to have predicted. Bad enough, huh?

The disease has symptoms which don't match in total some other diseases of cattle and people, like anthrax, but some symptoms are similar. And, anthrax has long been a favorite of the biological warfare boys. In today's world of genetic engineering, insulin, perfect human insulin, is grown by infecting e. coli bacteria with human genes and letting them start reproducing and manufacturing insulin like mad. What else is within their reach?

The British have refused to go along with the EU, preferring the pound to a common currency, and preferring British sovereignty to One Europe. Is this the lever for which the One Worlders have been looking, to force Britain into the subservient status that they wish for us all?

Who are they? They are whoever it is that wants my money and my firearms and my Liberty and my common sense and who want to jail me and who lie to me and expect me to accept it. Anyone fitting any of the above qualify as they.

The stakes are the world, and there are some very powerful thieves squabbling over the loot. We need to be ever watchful, and test everything against our common sense. If things don't make sense, don't blindly accept the first lame explanation offered you on the tv.

William Michael Kemp

Steven Linnabary wrote:

The government seems to consider citizen who are responsible for > themselves and their families to be its enemies. Because if we don't need > them, they have no power over us.

##

To all:

While true, this is not completely true. When we accept the validity of a law just because it is a law, and allow ourselves to be prosecuted (by trying to defend ourselves in the system, or otherwise acknowledging its validity), we have placed ourselves under the government's thumb because we think of ourselves as criminals, act as a criminal would act, and deserve our treatment.

So long as we pretend that the corruption is not, so long as we give credence to the sham, big brother wins.

It would be an excellent time for the patriot community, en masse, to read (or re-read) Atlas Shrugged. By and large, our legislators, administrators, and the judiciary are whores. It is high time that we treated them as such, instead of the prima donnas that they pretend to be- which is the image that we support.

In Liberty.

Mike Kemp

6/25/96

I saw two pictures of America today.

This morning, in between legal research (you almost have to be a lawyer, just to sort through the dead-tree jungle to find the law. Browse a book of statute law some time, particularly having to do with establishment of the courts, if you want to get so angry you'll pop- or so scared you'll get under the bed and wet it from underneath.)- where was I? Oh, yeah, between trips to the washing machine and clothesline, and Internet bouts, I heard that the citizens of New Mexico, where the FEMA evacuation drill was to occur, told FEMA that they could pound sand where sunlight was scarce.

That's the America and the Americans that I grew up with! Friendly and cooperative to a fault, but bad news when their suspicions get aroused, rightly or wrongly. $Yoor fum the guv'mint, are ye, and yurheer t$do whut? My God, I wanted (did) holler and cheer. I guess that's why my only constant companions are my dogs and cats. And they'd probably leave if they could find anybody else to feed them.

Americans that I know will give anybody a hand, but do not like a stranger coming up to them and offering them help defending themselves against another stranger, both previously unknown. DO WHUT? Thanks, folks. My hat's off to you. A whole bunch of you did what no armed desperate band could do: just plain run off some of the $swarms of officers (sent) to harass our people, and eat out their substance. And a good time was had by (almost) all.

NEXT! I have previously related the story of my friend, Rich Hayward, Good O'Boy video cameraman, who was arrested and then hauled before a judge, completely without due process on a fraudulent and perjured warrant. I have related the story of his treatment in court, with contradictory evidence introduced by the prosecution- a man whose boss described the (at that time intended) prosecution, and I quote from the tape, as $Insane. Irrelevant, sayeth judge and prosecutor. He demanded due process, and was told (again from tape) $You showed up, didn't you?!

He stated $For the record$ and was told that there was no record, this was not a court of record (contrary to the law). Demanding a jury trial, he was told that when he was convicted he could post a bond and demand a new trial.

Today I talked with a local jurist of national reputation. A man nationally known for his knowledge of things historical and Constitutional and patriotic. We discussed the above situation, and I was told many things, but in essence it was this: this is the state at which our judicial system has arrived.

Yes, a jury trial is guaranteed, but is it demanded? The requirement is handled by $allowing$ you a real trial (if you post a $250 bond, thank you- $Paying$ for justice? Does the term $danegeld$ mean anything to anyone?) after the district judge has ridden roughshod over you. If you prefer, you can hire a local hack, or have one appointed for you, and sit and listen, mute and powerless, while he licks between the judge's toes for a morsel of favor (flavor?).

Appeal on the record, and abuse the district judge? Not on your Liberty! There is no record, hizzoner said so. Who cares if the law of the State of Alabama says that the court is a court of record? Due process is whatever hizzoner says it is, and shut up, boy!

$But, your honor, they drug my friend into court on a perjured warrant alleging nothing but a plain lie- that his child had been suspended for three days for fighting- as though that were a cause for jailing a man- when the fact was that the child was suspended one day for whistling in class in the incident in question. What could the jurist say? Nothing. Skirt the issue, then lecture me on how far down the road from the Common Law that we have come! That rights are given by God, and no man (and certainly no government bureaucrat) should have right to judicial complaint about another man without having himself suffered injury. That $the law$ does not operate over a man who is obeying God's natural law and bothering no man.

What about the fact that my friend recognizes their cause for action, in the absence of due process, by appealing the very action to a higher court? $Do what? he says.

How about the fact that there is no record to stand in support of the judge's unlawful pronouncement of fine and costs, therefore there is no fine and costs? Dodge that issue, quick.

$Doesn't he have an attorney, $ His Honor asked. I treated it as a serious question, which it was. I said no, no attorney wants the case, and besides, where is the money to come from to hire competent counsel? They don't give it back if you win, unless perhaps, you spend a lot more, and go play ball in their court with their ball and their and their rules and their racket.

I hope that Judge X is home tonight thinking about some of the Constitutional abuse that I pointed out to him today. I hope that he begins to see his hypocrisy, which is evil greater than those of ignorance or even personal gain in other judges. I hope that his conscience is his guide, and I hope that it is bothering him.

It is fine to point out some of the problems in public and be active to restore some of the Constitutional guarantees, but about some action from the bench? After all, he is a judge. He's not supposed to have to answer to anyone but the people, when he is elected. Could it be that it has come so far? That supporting the security against unlawful search and seizure is not political? That throwing out cases and laws which violate the principle of leaving a man alone to mind his own business is unpopular?

IS THIS AMERICA? Which version? The New Mexicans running the federales over the horizon with boot prints on their butts? Or a judge who knows the Constitution and Bill of Rights and the principles of the Common Law, yet feels bound to perpetuate the system by acquiescing to case law, in the face of what pressure?

Could it be, perhaps, that it is both? Is there a tremendous imbalance, a huge growing tension, about to be resolved?

William Michael Kemp

G.M.M.

53901 STATE HWY 79

BLOUNTSVILLE, AL 35031

(205) 466-7689

6

In recent years, reports of foreign troops on American soil have circulated in the patriot community. On the rare occasions when these reports have been officially addressed, the gist of the reports indicate that indeed there have always been small numbers of troops from our allies who have come here for training, and therefore the occasional appearance of a foreign soldier is not an event requiring any concern.

In the recent past, however, details of the ~~training~~ provided to both foreign and American soldiers have come to light. The U.S. Army calls this training preparation to ~~wage peace~~. The essence of it is this: soldiers are trained to control indigenous civilian populations by the use of military arms.

This mission is clearly illustrated by the facilities and operations at Ft. Polk, Louisiana, and is by its very nature a mockery of a basic tenet of American governance, where soldiers are simply not permitted to operate against the civilians of the republic. This is referred to as ~~posse comitatus~~.

Yet, our civil ~~authority~~ has set out to train American soldiers to operate against civilians, and actively encourages foreign governments to do the same, with our training and against our laws and traditions. It is acknowledged that many tens of thousands of foreign troops are currently present on American soil undergoing this ~~training~~.

These circumstances, bad enough in themselves, pale in comparison to recent public occurrences. Holloman Air Force Base in New Mexico has been ceded to command of the Luftwaffe, the German Air Force. A foreign flag flies over American soil, wherein are foreign troops under arms. This is an outrage which shall not be tolerated.

This comes at a time when the American military is stretched to the breaking point, and domestically depleted by ~~peace keeping~~ missions around the world, resulting in American troops acting under orders from commanders who are not American and who therefore hold no allegiance to our republic. The final insult of this scenario is that while the continental United States is in a state of depleted defense capability, foreign military power is openly gathered on American soil.

At the present time, much of our land has been declared ~~no fly ones~~ to civilian air traffic, and much of our land has been declared ~~international biosphere~~ and thus not under the control of sovereign America. Persistent rumors indicate that this land is so declared to enable a hidden presence of foreign troops on OUR soil.

It is, therefore, incumbent upon civil authority to address these concerns herein expressed with a full and complete examination of the circumstances. It is unlawful for American troops to be used against our people; it only follows that the presence of foreign troops, trained to control civilian populations, presents a clear and present danger to the American people, and the training of said troops for the purpose of civilian control, whether here or in a foreign land, violates the basic tenets of our civil government. Further, the presence of a foreign controlled military installation on American soil is an abomination, shall not be tolerated, and is to cease immediately.

In light of the above points, it is incumbent upon the news media of America to investigate the above circumstances, and to publish the truth, pursuant to the duty laid on them in the Constitution. This is their duty, required of them by the protection guaranteed by the Constitution. In Liberty

Mike Kemp

To all:

I just read a posting concerning Dole's efforts to ~~abort~~ a major portion of his constituency. Just as his poll numbers were starting up, he sets out to piss on everybody that he can find who are otherwise, in the words of an e-mail posting, looking for a reason to support Dole.

Meanwhile, I read another posting about the avalanche of self generated bovine excrement which is rapidly closing on the fleeing heels of the first co-presidency. Bluntly, there is no way under the sun for the Clintons' to still be in the race, much less in the White House. Yet they are. And their numbers are as high as ever, with a recent recovery, thanks probably to Dole's podiatric self-shooting spree.

Dole seems hell-bent to destroy his own chances, Clinton does not have any chance at all in any rational world. There is, to face cold fact, no viable third candidate at this point...

Is this some Byzantine scheme to have both candidates discredited, with a last minute emergence by an alternative Democrat (Nunn? Bradley? Somebody else?), alternative Republican (Collins? Not likely. Buchanan? I don't think so.), or third party?

If so, who? Libertarian? Green? Perotista?

None of this makes any sense, to this poor feeble red-neck. I'm going to crawl off to my cave and cogitate. If anyone has a brainstorm, please cast a light upon the dark fog surrounding me. Up 'til now, I've been able to muddle my way through in dim and failing light, but I feel that I have now been struck deaf and blind.

Meanwhile, this week I watched a judge deny my friend a jury trial in a criminal case even after being pointedly reminded of the Constitutional mandates and his own oath; accept hearsay and perjured testimony; and ignore the written law.

Another friend of mine, the most effective (and therefore the most governmentally feared) man in this movement is so disgusted with shortsighted, foolish backbiters and backstabbers and otherwise dim-bulb players among his supposed friends that he is hanging up his spurs, turning his back on it all, leaving the foolish (along with the rest of us) to reap the rewards of their folly.

WHAT IN BLOODY HELL IS GOING ON???

In (confused) Liberty,

Mike Kemp

To all:

As I look at fifty, breaking over the horizon yonder, I am forced to ponder the events of the last forty or so years, those being the ones of which I have firm memory.

Those of you mathematically inclined understand the effects of a square function, a logarithmic curve approaching infinity. My childhood and adolescence was in the middle fifties to middle sixties. The effects of the follies of the nineteen teen's 1930's were felt, with a secret police which kept files on Americans (FBI), a fearsome though chained beast by which you must walk every day and feed to distract (IRS), and a 'you can't fight city hall' attitude- but, then again, you hardly needed to.

You couldn't have automatic weapons or gold, but who in their right mind wants their life savings tied up in inanimate metal, and who can afford ammunition for anything other than a .22, anyway? I reload mine one at a time, and derved if I would want anything that shot two weeks worth of work in about forty-five seconds. Every forty-five seconds.

I cut grass and bought a shotgun, at a hardware store. Nobody wanted any paper. I could own a pistol, particularly if Dad could be persuaded to go along and smile benignly while the deal was struck, assuring the seller that the teenager knew guns and would shoot responsibly.

You had to have a license and tags to drive, but other licensing was minimal and none of it was particularly intrusive. Taxation was obvious but minimal.

We were still in the flat part of the curve. Today, we are 'upt' on the curve, way up, and the slope, the day to day increase of applied power by government is increasing. Do we become more and more alienated by this taking of our Liberty, of our country, our resources, our children, and withdraw from the system? Do we shut up and stop voting, much less expressing an opinion to an elected public official? Do we stop asserting our sovereignty? The attitudes of the fifties, work to get ahead and ignore the government, other than to feed it, has become the nineties, where you must work double just to keep a breathing tube, a schnorkel, above water.

The kids, dumbed down by school, brainwashed by the tube, are left rudderless as the parents both work, probably divorced under the strain, no stable job and therefore stable roots anyplace, high density living... and taxation at an acknowledged 40%.

Who pays taxes for the corporation that manufactures, ships, and sells you a widget? Why, you do, of course. It is an integral part of the price at every stage of the journey from raw material to end user.

Why does so much go to government? To fulfill the obligations which our government has supposedly done in our names. We have ceded responsibility, and therefore ceded our rights, abdicated as sovereigns, on a million and one items along the way.

'We can't stop (them) drinking!' became Prohibition. After the predictable warfare over sales territories (Capone and co.), automatic weapons and silencers were outlawed to 'protect us.'

'Stabilize our currency' became the fed reserve. 'Save our bacon' became the alphabet soup bureaucracy that grew from the thirties and Roosevelt. 'The Great Society' is the horror story of battle zones in the cities and government running without the governors, running to serve itself. Does anyone remember Viet Nam, and Robert McNamara's (architect of the war) confession of knowing that the whole thing was a mistake, but doing it anyway?

'War on the Drugs' has become an excuse for the public to accept gangs of blacked out, armored and armed thugs kicking down doors with, if at all, shaky warrants. GUNS are seen as the enemy; juries are not to be trusted (by government-thus Ruby Ridge? Waco?). Parents are threatened with jail for exercising their parental (that is, God given) rights.

If I have a store, which is successful, and it grows to a chain of stores, I need managers for those stores, being unable to occupy multiple coordinates of space at the same time. I probably will need one manager to look after it all, while I go out on my boat, named for the business: 'Beans and Bullets.'

If I go to Jamaica on an herb run, come back and find my bank accounts drained, the business gone to rot, and my manager surly and threatening me, what am I to do? After pistol whipping the manager, that is? Call the sheriff and get warrants or whatever, and cure the problem. However, when you find the sheriff sitting behind what was formerly YOUR desk, and the judge is a brother in law of the manager, you begin to get the idea of the situation we are now in.

Government operates by delegated powers. Period. Thus the basis of the common law. If you drag me before the 'bar of justice,' you better have a real good reason, an injury or a compelling interest to enter my life in any such fashion.

I can drag you into court if you have damaged me, endangered me, killed me, or otherwise intruded into my life. The authority to right a wrong is the only power which can be delegated. Power (authority) from the individual to government to exercise in his stead. There is no other premise for this Constitutional republic. If I do not possess a right, I can hardly cede that right to government to exercise.

Perhaps this is the key to the, to me, otherwise unexplainable silence and passivity of the American people. They realize that they have ceded their individual rights to government, and really don't have a leg to stand on. Until government finally comes around and actually does kick the legs out from under them, individually, when they stumble or (Gasp!) get out of line. Then by George, you got a pissed off American, eh?

Frankly, I'm hoping that these puddles all over- and I do mean ALL over- the place correspond to the number of beforesaid Americans. How far up us will we let that big dog at the gate lift his leg as we feed him? Must we let him piss in our faces before we get mad enough and use a stun gun on him where it does the most good?

William Michael Kemp

4
PRESS RELEASE - ARTICLE RELEASE

Libertarian National Congressional Committee

* Pam Pescosolido

A Word (or 100) About Responsibility

by Pamela Pescosolido
Chair, Valley Libertarians

I have spent innumerable hours over the past year trying to "get the word out" about the Libertarian Party and, more importantly, about libertarianism, its philosophy and its ideals. Last summer I spent hours on end "on-line" having discussions with others about politics, morality ethics, and personal responsibility. For at the core of Libertarian political philosophy lies just that: responsibility and account-ability.

Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats could say such a thing with any credibility. For, in reality, both parties seek "big government." Many Republicans currently in office say they want to "reduce the size of government." If you think about it at all, you'll recognize the lie.

Republicans want to "reduce government" only in areas which effect economics: they want to deregulate various industries and stop subsidizing farmers, and stop the overwhelming interference of regulatory agencies with the economic lives of U.S. citizens. Yet economic interference is only a part of "big government" as it has developed in this country over the past 45 years.

Republicans adore the other side of big government: they want to regulate the Internet; they want to put their "family values" into your home and mine, regardless of our background or religion; they want to limit free speech; they want to amend the Constitution to outlaw flag burning; they want, in short, to run every aspect of your life which doesn't involve your business.

And the Democrats? They, too, claim a yearning for smaller government. But only in areas of government that effect private areas of our lives. The Democrats have no qualms about taking our money for whatever purpose they deem is "socially important" or "a matter of public concern." Ever since the days of F.D.R. and the "New Deal," Democrats have interpreted the phrase "a matter of public concern" to mean something which the government should regulate.

As Tibor Machin explains in his book Private Rights and Public Illusions (The Independent Institute 1995), "A serious confusion has infested much prominent thinking about government's role in our lives, a confusion well-illustrated in the way [many people] think about government. They assume . . . that whatever is important in society must be a matter of public or state concern. An example may be found in the way some . . . bemoaned the absence of federal regulations concerning the recreational use of dolphins at various Florida and Hawaii hotels. It was not the fate of the dolphins but the absence of government regulations that these [people] found objectionable —which clearly assumes that with such regulation the danger to the dolphins would seriously diminish."

"The first point to be noted . . . is that the state or government is but a small feature of any society suitable for human community life. The exact nature of government is a complicated issue. But there is little doubt that only a totalitarian government aims to take on every possible concern of the citizenry."

I find it appalling that so many of us — elected officials and average citizens both — buy into this idea. Our freedoms have been chipped away, little by little, until we are a nation where our "rights" are more and more defined as that which the government allows us to do. We have become confused about the difference between "rights" and "privileges."

Yet rights are not privileges. Rights are those areas of our lives where the government is not permitted to tread. The Bill of Rights spells these areas out quite clearly, in very unambiguous language: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble; . . . the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed; . . . the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; . . . No person shall be . . . deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

Perhaps the most important amendment in the Bill of Rights, and certainly the most overlooked and ignored, is the Tenth: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people." Not much ambiguity here, is there?

I submit that the ever-encroaching, ever-expanding federal government is not the cure for the decline in morality in our country nor for the much-bemoaned "loss of family values." I strongly believe that the reverse is true: the government has created these problems by its insidious involvement in every aspect of its citizens lives.

Through welfare programs, farm subsidies, corporate and savings & loans bail-outs, funding of public education, student loans, and on and on, the government has created a situation where many Americans feel a sense of entitlement — "If things get too bad, the government will fix it for me." Along with the sense of entitlement, many Americans now lack any feeling of personal responsibility for their own lives and their own well-being. (And you thought I was never going to get back to what was the starting theme —responsibility!)

What is the point of working hard, instilling a sense of personal responsibility into one's children, saving one's money, building a home, a future, buying a bit of land to call one's own, when the government has made it clear that one has these things only at its whim?

When, because of "public concern" over the fate of the Western Desert Mouse (or whatever), the government may tell you that you cannot keep the property your family has farmed for six generations? When, because of public concern over preserving coastal lands, the government tells you that you cannot rebuild your house on your own property after it was destroyed in a hurricane, because now that the building is gone, the government says that laws governing construction within a mile of the ocean cover the land that once held up your home?

The government seems to consider citizen who are responsible for themselves and their families to be its enemies. Because if we don't need them, they have no power over us.

Subj: COCAINE BUST

Look out, everyone: this might make a lot of stuff fall out of the cages. I sure hope so.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT from the UNAmerican Activities Investigations Commission

OPERATION OVERLORD UNDER WAY

EXPOSURE OF DOMESTIC COCAINE OPERATIONS
BEGUN; LAW ENFORCEMENT COMPLICITY ALLEGED

An operation to expose law enforcement and other government complicity in the mass smuggling of cocaine into southern Mississippi has begun. Abundant evidence suggests a cocaine operation dwarfing Wena, and continuing to operate openly.

The UNAmerican Activities Investigation Commission is in possession of this evidence, and have made attempts to expose it through media outlets, and have been rebuffed. Now begins Operation Overlord.

The watchword is: calm as a duck on the surface, but paddling furiously underneath.

Affiant further sayeth not.

William Michael Kemp

STARR UPDATE

Mike Kemp writes:

I spoke with Bob Starr Sunday night. He was strong, in good spirits, full of the Lord, and full of fight. He sounds a lot like a man that I would like to get to know. Confident, intelligent, rational, and concerned for his family.

As the saying goes, Bob has three hots and a cot. He is provided for. However, unless his friends and allies- ALLIES, folks, ALLIES- pick up some slack, Bob's family will begin to suffer much worse than they are now. Once a man sees his family in distress, there is a lever to be used against him.

I know that we have all dug deep. Perhaps it is now time to start hitting up silent allies. The days of neutral spectatorship are over. Folks are going to have to choose sides. One way for a man to choose sides is with money from his pocket.

Instead of the beer, throw the buck in a jar. When you get 10 or 20, send it. Pass the hat among those you talk with on a daily basis. Your church, your work, your buddies. SEND IT ON.

We are Bob Starr's ALLIES, remember- that means that we have a duty. A duty to protect him by keeping his family sound. That way, the truth can win out in court, rather than all the accusations left to stand with an extorted plea bargain from a man desperate for the welfare of his family.

The government will be shown for what it is, BATF will be shown for what it is. The planned assault on the militia and Liberty will fail in disgrace. We will climb another rung on the ladder. Now we come to the real duty. The duty of self defense. By protecting our ally, we are protecting our selves.

On NBC news tonight, Tom Brokaw stated that the latest militia group had been rounded up. The Viper Militia. Informants. Plans to blow up something.

Now is the time, folks. If we don't do our militia duty, our personal duty, our moral duty, we will be the ones asking for help from behind bars just like Bob Starr. Jimmy McCranie, and Troy Spain.

Octavia Starr
Rt 1 Box 1143
Knoxville, Georgia 31050

G.M.M.
53901 STATE HWY 79
BLOUNTSVILLE, AL 35031
(205) 466-7689

10
Good Ol' Boys latest info - IMPORTANT

To All:

Press Release - Please distribute

For the past several weeks, the Gadsden Minutemen, and other unnamed parties, have been investigating criminal acts surrounding the ATF sponsored Good Ol' Boys Roundup. Through confidential sources inside government agencies and other, unnamed sources, it has been brought to our attention that a Fort Lauderdale police officer, an ex-member of Gene Rightmeyer's Good Ol' Boy "MOB," was engaged in the act of firearms trafficking along with other co-conspirators. These weapons were being transported to Mexico on a regular basis.

Also, revealed, through additional, unreleased photos and video tape, are pictures of the Mexican gun buyers. We also have good information that Andreas Strassmeir, who is connected with the Oklahoma City bombing may have attended the Good Ol' Boys Roundup. We are currently going over many photos of the GOB Roundup and recent photos of Strassmeir to verify his attendance. Mr. Strassmeir was sponsored into the US by a man named Vincent Petruskie, Mr. Petruskie is a known international arms dealer, also linked to providing mercenary personnel. Strassmeir fled to Mexico shortly after the OKC bombing. We are in the process of directly linking Strassmeir to ATF control. Strassmeir is an avowed white supremacist, this connection could explain a lot of the racism and "Arayan" control over key players inside ATF... and would easily explain the the reasoning behind the "whites only" attitude demonstrated at the GOB Roundup.

From what we have gathered so far, the GOB Roundup was a yearly "star chamber," meeting where many of the key players met to discuss business other than drinking, klan skits and nigger hunting license. Now, we see why ATF readily admitted to the racism...to cover for the major illegal acts that were taking place.

Michael Bromwich, DOJ inspector, was the man who insisted on interrogating the people involved in exposing the GOB Roundup. Mr. Bromwich's claim to fame is his failed attempt at prosecuting Oliver North in the Contra scandal. One can only assume that Mr. Bromwich wanted to see how much the militia knew about the ties between ATF's gun running business, any photos or info we may have on Strassmeir's connection to ATF and the OKC bombing.

Many other people, both government and non-government, are being linked to this ordeal.

The recent issue of SOF magazine (July) has an article about an ATF agent named Joe Wiedzianowski who is in serious trouble dealing machine guns, silencers and coke to Chicago street gangs... we have pictures that may also place him at the GOB Roundup.

Inside sources with ATF and other agencies have been providing current and past information on this late breaking story. Will keep you posted as other developments come forth.

Jeff Randall
CopWatch

G.M.M.
53901 STATE HWY 79
BLOUNTSVILLE, AL 35031
(205) 466-7689

To all:

Yesterday, Thursday, patriot Gary Presley, Shelby County, Alabama, was jailed by Municipal Judge Larry Ward of Lincoln, Alabama (205/763-7777).

Mr. Presley was contesting traffic citations, and rather than address the legal points which Mr. Presley attempted to present, bailiffs roughed, cuffed, and stuffed Mr. Presley for (respectfully) attempting to be heard.

BTV, FORMER long time Lincoln mayor Clyde Allred was determined to be guilty of soliciting kickbacks to use his influence to take city water to a real estate development. It would seem that the federals need to shake that Lincoln Tree just a little bit harder. It would seem that all the rotten apples haven't fallen out yet.

Given the circumstances, a phone call to the judge to inquire about his friend Clyde, or the judge's knowledge of Title 42 and Title 18 would be appropriate. A phone call to the Lincoln Jail to check on the condition of Gary Presley would perhaps be help to insure Gary Presley's health. Just to let them know that someone is watching.

I've spent time in durance vile, folks, and it is no fun. Please do what you can.

In Liberty,

Mike Kemo

Davidian Prisoner Livingstone Fagan, who received a sentence of 40 years based on perjured evidence by FBI agents, has been moved to the Federal Correctional Institute at Leavenworth. Fagan has refused to work and otherwise cooperate with authorities since placed in federal prisons and has been in solitary confinement — "the hole" — for almost two years. During this time he wrote a book about his experiences during the siege and about David Koresh's interpretation of the seven seals. (It is available from me on e-mail. Please e-mail me at my other address—cmoores@upx.net. I'll be able to send out copies after 7/10.)

Feel free to write Livingstone letters of support. While he may not be able to reply, the fact he gets lots of letters upon his moving there should impress the authorities and hopefully make it less likely he will suffer any abuse or harassment from guards. Also, he get's pretty bored in there and enjoys receiving books and magazines on religious and political issues. If you would like to contribute some money for him to write his children in England and others and make phone calls (when they let him near a phone), send postal money orders with his registration number on them. Even $5.00 will be appreciated.

Livingstone Fagan #60550-080
Federal Correctional Institution
1300 Metropolitan
Leavenworth, KS 66048

July 1, 1996
SENATOR DUKE
(719) 481-9289

By Senator Charles R. Duke
Colorado District 9

ONE MORE NAIL IN THE COFFIN

Many will remember all the hullabaloo in 1995 about the Unfunded Mandates Law passed, by the new Republican majority, in Congress. Although only a baby step in the direction of restoring state sovereignty, it was, at least, a little more than the lip service practiced by nearly everyone in federal office or preparing for same.

The bill was far from perfect. No existing mandate was covered by the law, for example, so all the status quo intrusions into our daily lives by an oppressive federal government would be continued. The bill also contained a circuit breaker, if you will, such that the cost transfer to the states had to exceed $50 million in aggregate before its prohibition provisions went into effect.

Both these provisions were of keen importance to state legislatures everywhere. In Colorado, there have been many attempts by the few conservatives serving in the Legislature to overturn similar unconstitutional and unfunded mandates. Almost all have been killed by the Republicrats in our Legislature, by combining the Democrat votes with the liberal extremists in the Republican Party.

This same process is at work in the U.S. Congress. Time and again, Republican defectors have shown true colors by abandoning Republican principles. At the state and federal level, the Republican Party is on life support due to the inability of the party leadership to draw a distinction between ourselves and the Democrats. In fact, there has even been a concerted effort to show similarities rather than differences.

All that needs to happen now to pull the plug on the Republicans is the Spiece de resistance of liberal extremism - the removal or significant compromise of the pro-life plank in the Republican platform in San Diego. If that should happen, it is this writer's opinion that the Republican Party will fall into obscurity and irrelevance, as it should.

What, then, of the Unfunded Mandates Law? In an article in "State Legislatures," the official publication of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL), the immigration bill of Wyoming's Senator Alan Simpson is discussed. The bill contains at least two onerous provisions from a federal mandates perspective.

The first places certain restrictions on drivers' licenses and birth certificates, while the second prevents legal immigrants from participating in federal means-tested assistance programs. Both of these provisions violate not only the Unfunded Mandates Law, but also the Tenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.

The Congressional Budget Office (CBO) reviewed these two provisions and initially divined that neither would exceed the $50 million breaker. NCSL then confronted CBO with more realistic data and caused CBO to revise their estimate of the driver's license provisions to in excess of $200 million.

CBO did not even bother to estimate the legal immigrant provisions, but, according to the article, opined that these costs could "be considered mandates as defined in [the mandates act]." NCSL estimated the costs of just 10 of these programs to the states at $744 million.

Several attempts were made to eliminate these clearly unfunded mandates, but all were defeated. The article states, "Election year politics may have been the biggest obstacle to success this time."

By winking at the Unfunded Mandates Law, the Congress demonstrated that nothing has fundamentally changed in the way it does its business. Once again, billion dollar costs will be transferred to the states for the state taxpayer to pick up.

Once again, Congress has shown its real devotion to our Constitution to be null, zip, zero, void. the Republican leadership has shown all this blabbering about the Tenth Amendment is just so much rhetoric. It's business as usual inside the Beltway and we in the states will get shafted again as a result.

The Tenth Amendment gives the states all the power we need to correct this contemptible disregard of the Constitution. The states should simply tell the lame duck Senator Simpson what he can do with his mandates. Short of that, will someone please prepare the eulogy for America?

End

Anyone interested in posting a letter to complain about Mark Bass (station manager) removing the "Sound Off" program from WAAZ should direct it to the following as he is the owner of Osborn Communications.

Frank Osborn
Osborn Communications
130 Mason Street
Greenwich, Conn 06830
(203) 629-0905—

By the way "J's" name is Joe A. Holland
Lets all send a letter.

A armed man is a citizen; and a unarmed man is a servant!
Alvin Thompson "To err is human, but to really screw athompson@pcl.net things up requires a computer". Unknown

My Story "Don't Whistle While You Work" by Mary Anne Poores

I will try and work on a short version of my story now. I am in the middle of preparing for a settlement hearing and I am going Pro Se on my case because I cannot afford a Lawyer. The Lawyer that I originally paid took a dive and I am having to try and save my case. The Government has known that I am innocent of what I was fired on and have hidden this investigation from the courts. I have uncovered this information and have accused the US Attorneys, The IRS Attorneys, and the Department of Treasury Attorneys of Fraud. There is no law that says they have to settle out of court even though they know that I innocent of what they accused me of when I was fired. A company that I tried to get audited 5 months before I was fired was a CIA front Company and from what Bill Duncan, in Arkansas, has told me it was part of the Mena drug and money laundering business. This company flew money to Washington D.C.. Oh, if my life was only boring again. I learned about illegal phone taps and the use of listening devices. I learned about tracking devices being placed in the bumpers of vehicles. Then they can track your where abouts by computer. I learned of the files that the IRS keeps of all individuals. The Quad-Zero accounts and that they could be used to launder money. All they needed was someone working inside. I was an internal Auditor for the IRS at the K.C. Service Center. I was part of the IRS policing agency. Some of the investigators of Inspections also worked with the BATF and the FBI. I learned of the investigators uniform that they use to wear. Which was a Plaid shirt. I learned that all IRS cars are licensed in the name of an individual not the Agency. I learned they like to destroy from within whenever possible, such as what might have happened with J.J.. The IRS destroyed my personal life then destroyed my career. I was a single mother who raised four children. While my children were in High School I went to College. In 1986 I graduated with Two Degrees. One in Accounting and One in Management. I worked for a temp. agency until I was hired by the IRS in Adjustment/Correspondence in the BWF division in January of 1988. BWF is the Business Master File. There are two, BWF and IMF. IMF is the Individual Master File. I worked 941 adjustments and located missing money and moved missing money that is found and place it in the proper account. I was promoted to Inspections 8 months after starting work with the IRS. I was contacted by my sister-in-law to assist her in finding someone in the IRS that would audit a company that she was Finance Director For, "Jay's Truck Driving Training Center". They had schools in Kentucky, Illinois, Missouri, Colorado, Indiana, Arkansas, and Kansas. They had a satellite office in Texas and in Florida. There was a member of the team that was being sought by the FBI for questioning about his possible involvement in gun running. The drivers that went up Interstate 35 were complaining because they had to drop off small packages in small towns along the way. My sister-in-law said that they were flying brief cases full of cash to Washington on a regular basis. They were violating tax laws on their tax returns. No one looked at the information that was given to the IRS, even though the company was currently going through an audit. Instead, an Investigator by the name of Steve Larm was sent in from Omaha Neb and told "I don't care what you have to do, I want the Bitch out of my Office". Two months later I was locked in a room and interrogated by two investigators, Steve Larm, and Richard Baxter. Steve Larm knew that I was an Insulin Dependent Diabetic and he deliberately chose my lunch hour to interrogate me and deny me food so I would go into an insulin reaction. After an Hour and 45 minutes I was released while still in an Insulin reaction. They never sought medical treatment and just sent me on my way. I made it to my office where my purse was and ate a candy bar and waited a while then went to eat lunch. I did not know at the time that I was going to be accused of violating a federal crime. My miranda rights were never read to me. They claim that during this insulin reaction that I admitted to being guilty of what I was later fired over. In writing the investigators claimed that they asked me the condition of my Female Genitalia. My question is what did the condition of my "TVAT" have to do with the Betterment of the Service or National Security or my work performance? Was there a part of my job that I was not informed of? Or was there a sexual act they were considering and wanted to make sure I was clean.

I did not know that the man I was living with was having an affair. I learned this from the investigators. The woman that the man I was living with was having an affair claimed that I called her at home and threaten her. I never call this woman to threaten her. Also what I did on my own time, away from work is none of the IRS's business. I have since learned that this woman went to the Union President and told her that she had lied about someone at the request of Inspections and wanted to know if she could retract it without being fired. Of course she was told that they would eventually fire her. This woman is now married to the man I was engaged to. She got what she went after. I feel sorry for her. She also received a bonus and was able to buy a new car during this time frame and she had never received a bonus before this. She now lives in a $200,000. home. Five years earlier she was on Welfare and the man she married was Very deep in debt. I wonder where the money came from. They must have received a lot of large bonuses for keeping their mouths shut. Everyone involved in my case either received bonuses, promotions, or both.

During all this I also went through a 7 month audit on $2,000.00 taxable income. The years that I was audited I was a full time student with four dependents. The audit accused me of fraud. They alleged that I had lied on my application for my Visa Card. The audit closed, just days before I was fired, with the IRS owing me money.

Before I was fired, I went to Senator Danforth's office requesting his help. I was informed since I lived in Kansas I had to go to Bob Doles Office. I went to Doles Office and I was told that if I was being fired I must be guilty. I was then informed to contact Inspections Office in Washington, D.C.. The Inspections office refused to investigate until I sent them copies of the letters that I wrote to Danforth and Dole. I refused to send them and they refused to investigate.

I was fired for lying on my application of employment and for using my Official Authority to threaten an employee. I did not lie on my application of employment but the IRS said I did even though all evidence proves that I did not. An Auditor who is fired for lying will never receive another job as an auditor. If I did an audit in which I had to testify on the stand. The first thing that an attorney would do is to question me of this and my credibility is blown.

Department of Treasury after four years decided to do an investigation into my written allegations. When the investigator learns that I did not lie on my application of employment, he meets with my best friend. When he came in he told her that the IRS was in trouble. He told her that he was receiving pressure from up above not to find in my favor. He told her that he had children to feed. He has since took a medical leave and did not disclose the entire truth in his investigation. He did not contact all possible witnesses.

I won my initial Merit System Protection Board Hearings but the appeal reversed the initial decision. When I won the MSP Hearings there was an article written in the Kansas City Star by Gregory Reeves.

Prior to my MSPB hearing I took a trip to Georgia. I learned how the IRS investigators were trained by the Military in Anniston(I think this is how it is spelled), Alabama. This base has now closed. When I returned I did a set up conversation on the phone with my girlfriend. We talked about our trip to Georgia and how we loved our visit with Congressman Barnard. I never met with Barnard. Barnard is the Congressman that overlooking the corruption of my bosses. Burnham wrote a book about my bosses corruption, "A Law Unto Itself". There is a chapter devoted to my co-worker Stan Welli and the hell he went through to disclose illegal acts of his boss in Chicago. I was under these bosses even though I was in Kansas City. My boss Robert Kozal was under investigation by congress for his illegal acts. He retired shortly after I was fired. I learned that these men were laundering their illegally obtained money through the stock market. The same as Hillary Clinton was. Through Freedom of Information requests I was able to obtain a memo of this conversation. "Small World isn't it". I filed an EEOC complaint after the interrogation. This was filed in Federal Court in 1993. My attorney last year did not notify me that my case was going to court and he did not show up for the settlement hearing. He did not notify me of the settlement hearing so I could attend. My case was therefore thrown out of court for failure of my lawyer to follow court procedure. I did not learn of this happening until 5 months after it happened. I have appealed the dismissal and am awaiting an answer. I have written the Missouri Supreme Court and they have decided to have a hearing "sometime" concerning the possible disbarment of my attorney, Mr. Freddy Lawrence Warren. I cannot find a lawyer to sue my attorney because they do not feel that he has malpractice insurance since it is not a requirement, in any state except California, for an attorney to carry malpractice insurance.

I am now suing the Government, Pro Se. Without an Attorney I may not have a chance but I would have no chance at all if I never tried.

My career was destroyed and I was denied medical Insurance. I am an Insulin Dependent Diabetic who went three years with little or no medical care. I have lost almost all my material possessions. I am very ill and am trying to get myself back into condition so I can return to work. I do not know what kind of work I will do. I cannot be an auditor. I guess I could do IRS Audits. I am not afraid of the IRS. I would like to go to law school and devote the remainder of my life to fighting the Government and represent people like myself who cannot afford lawyers. If God wills it I will do it. I do feel this is my next road. Remember, "WITH YOUR BELIEF IN GOD YOU CAN MOVE MOUNTAINS". Without God I would have never survived this long. I would have given up and ended this battle a long time ago. I was fired in June of 1989. If people had listened then Waco and Ruby Ridge might not have happened. The Government Agencies have men that totally disregard the law when they are doing there jobs. These men need to be removed. Remember, Not all that work inside these agencies are bad. Most of them are honest and good. If those inside, squeal on the bad, they lose their jobs and their careers.

I request that you all pray that God protects the good inside from the bad. If the bad totally take over, we will be in trouble.

I have received no financial aid from anyone except my closes and dearest friends. If any one would like to donate some money to my cause it would be appreciated.

My Federal Case is filed in Kansas City, Missouri in The Western Dist. It is Mary Anne Poores v Department of Treasury.

If anyone can do some legal research I could sure use the help? I have sent this request out before and no one has answered it.

My settlement hearing is July 24th, 1996. It is only an early assessment settlement hearing and the US Attorneys will never settle out of court.

July, 4, 1996

By Bill Gribble

Well, another July 4th has come and gone and we are still here, at least I think that we are. I'm serious, some times I really do wonder if we are still here or not. Oh I know that we are still here physically and the land is still here, but I wonder just how much of the old Republic is still here. The amount of folks that still believe in the Republic are starting to become fewer and fewer. Oh everyone still celebrates the holiday, for most, I believe that it is just another reason to get off work and go picnicing and partying out of doors.

This is the day that we celebrate the birth of our nation. This is the day that we declared independence from our former leader, England. Now here we are about to give ourselves up to another leader, The United Nations. I don't understand why so many are willing to accept something like this. I realize that most don't even know what's really going on. Yet there are a lot of Americans who are in agreement with this. They were in agreement when we turned to socialism. Well maybe they weren't in full agreement with the change over, but, they did keep asking for more and more from their dear old uncle Sam. We got it. Now we are living under socialism and going deeper. We are drowning in a sea of gobbley goop, red tape, bureaucracy, and lead by bureaucrats who are moving us closer and closer to a one world government which will be lead by the United Nations.

We like to get out and celebrate the fourth of July and most don't even suspect what the Constitution and the Bill of Rights are all about. Hell! They don't even teach the Constitution or The Bill of Rights in the schools any more. I guess that it is safe to say that they don't bother to teach math in schools any more, since we were fourteenth in world competition this last go around.

What would be wrong with sitting down with our kids and reading these documents as part of the celebration. Just in case no one can read any more, how about we just sit down with our kids once a year and talk to them. WE could tell them some of the things that was told to us when we were young. Hell ! I don't claim to have the answers, but I do know that this U.S. is going to Hell in a hand basket and it is going fast.

We are complaining about loosing State sovereignty all the time what do you think it will be like when the country looses its sovereignty. The states are slaves to the Federal Government, now that we are under socialism, What do you think it will be like when we are slaves to the United Nations? If you don't think that this can happen then just stick your head back up your ass and go back to sleep and wait and see. When you do wake up you won't like what you see or what is going on around you. How can you tolerate seeing your fellow countrymen being put in jail with trumped up charges and allowed no bail? Don't worry about it, you may be next. I said, you may be next, they are not picky.

more next MONTH from
MARY Anne Poores

G.M.M.
53901 STATE HWY 79
BLOUNTSVILLE, AL 35031
(205) 466-7689

Hi All,

Well the fireworks started early...and I think the first shot was fired in the revolution today. If you all don't know, there was a 4th of July rally put on by a coalition of Patriots at the Federal Building in Los Angeles today. The main organizer was the Prop 187 group. I knew I could'nt get there promptly at 10:00 but this time they said the rally would last until 2:00 so off I went on the 405 at 10:30. As I got close to Wilshire Blvd. (the turn-off) the freeway indicator said Wilshire was closed. Luckily I know the area so I approached on a surface street called Sepulveda. When I got to Wilshire Blvd. the police had closed off Wilshire and were in riot gear. When I finally got turned around and went in the back way I noticed some white liberals....their Marxist T-Shirts told me so....rapidly leaving the area with smirks on their faces. I knew something nasty was up. I arrived at the BACK of the Federal Building where I was suprised to find our group with an inadequate speaker system set-up speaking from the back of a vehicle. I also noticed some people with blood on their shirts and heads. After asking what was going on and why we were not out in front the answers I received were sickening. While AMERICAN CITIZENS were not allowed out in front, a MASS of very young protesters carrying Marxists flags, Mexican flags, some wearing RED T-Shirts (obviously supplied by the retreating white liberals who did not want to be memorialized on film/tape.) were gestering, dancing and hurling slurs. What had happened before I came is outrageous. The rally organizer, after being sent to the 'back of the Federal building, asked some of the people to go to the corner of Veteran and Wilshire and wave people to the back of the building. A small group of them went and were attacked by the marxist vermin with full cans of soda, sharp objects and fists, INCLUDING A 70+ YEAR OLD WOMAN WHO WAS TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL. Another, older, AMERICAN CITIZEN, was chased onto a passing bus, American Flag and all! The crowd in back was alerted and came to the rescue of the small group. Now the propoganda you hear on the news this evening is it was an even match.....200 to 200. THIS IS A LIE! CALL YOUR TV STATIONS AND ASK THE FOR THE ENTIRE RUN OF FILM. I was told by one person that alot of the film crews stopped filming or turned their cameras away while the old people were being attacked and chased. This is, apparently, an oft used strategy so as not to have a record. I personally saw them do this at a Buchanan rally so I believe it happened today. In addition to this outrage....the police would not step in and protect the AMERICAN CITIZENS when this mele' first started DO THE IDIOTS OUT THERE GET IT????? Obviously our police force has been instructed to allow MARXISTS AND ILLEGALS attack the citizens of this country. THIS IS A SEDITIOUS INSTRUCTION....IT IS TREASON. One of the policeman said (wispered) to two of us 'what is this country coming to?'. Heck, if he doesn't know we are all in even deeper yoghurt. AND, our beautiful Ezola Foster is being attacked, she is the feisty black educator in Inglewood school district, by the NEA and the rest of the usuals. She needs everyones support.

To close on an up note, the last rally was sparse....this one was not. It was a real cross section of AMERICAN CITIZEN PATRIOTS.....BLACK, WHITE, BROWN, YELLOW. Everyone I met is welcome at my home any day. God Bless all of them.

Annie
Happy Independence Day

ARE YOU READY???

by Charli Gribble

"...God forbid we should ever be twenty years without such a rebellion. The people cannot be all, and always, well informed. The part which is wrong will be discontented in proportion to the importance of the facts they misconceive. If they remain quiet under such misconceptions, it is lethargy, the forerunner of death to the public liberty... And what country can preserve its liberties if its rulers are not warned from time to time, that this people preserve the spirit of resistance? Let them take arms. The remedy is to set them right as to the facts, pardon and pacify them. What signify a few lives lost in a century or two? The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time, with the blood of patriots and tyrants. It is its natural manure." This was written by Thomas Jefferson in a letter to William S. Smith, Nov.13,1787.

I cannot help but wonder what he would say today. If he were to view the overreaches, and the tyranny of a government that has gone amuck, he would probably have an immediate call to arms.

We have a government that cannot seem to get enough power to satisfy itself. It gorges itself like some gigantic bloated whale and before it can even digest the rotten legislation it has produced, it gobbles more of the freedoms, regurgitates them, defecates on them, and swallows them again. The stench our government produces is so overwhelming that the people who are living in the middle of the stench don't even smell it any more. They are too busy watching ball games, going to the different sports events, getting ready for the olympiads. Preforming like the trained seals the government has taught them to be.

It is time for another revolution !!! It is time for the American people to rise up and say "enough"! It is time for the American people to throw out the corrupt politicians, and do it by any means necessary. We do not want to throw out the government. We have the finest form of governing in the world. However, we must get the scum out of office who are perverting, and subverting it. People like Charles Schumer come to mind. Let me give you a quote from Comrade Schumer "We're here to tell the NRA their nightmare is true. We're going to hammer guns on the anvil of relentless legislative strategy! We're going to beat guns into submission!" The last time I read my copy of the constitution it said I have a RIGHT to own and carry a gun. A right cannot be taken away!!! If it were up to people like him, we would not have any rights. He also despises the 1st amendment. If you don't believe it talk to Jim Floyd. We must take to heart Kennedy's words, "Those who would make peaceful revolution impossible, make violent revolution inevitable".